We were all so proud to see how many of you have logged onto bug club to read your reading books.

You should also see a link to bbc's small town superheroes game on there now, these games will help with your reading and literacy skills so have a go.

This week in maths you could focus on counting in 5s. (If you can already do this try counting backwards in 5s, then look at the 5 Xs tables.) Try the link to this song to help you learn them.https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=EemjeA2Djj

There are lots of other counting in 5s songs to try so have a look on https://kids.youtube.com as well.

You could also look for shapes around your home. Can you sort them into 2d and 3d shapes? Which ones can you name? Did you find any oblongs (4sided shapes).

Don't forget to access https://app.gonoodle.com/ look for the rainbow breathing exercise to help you start your days in a calm and positive way. You could also try 'clap it out' and show off your dancing skills to the lunch song.

I hope you have had a nice week and that you are doing as you are told for your parents at home.

🌈 Can you draw a picture of a rainbow and put something that you love in the pot of gold at one end? Maybe put it up in your window to cheer up passers by.

I have noticed that some of you have accessed purple mash this week, well done with that. Now have a look at 'Little Red Meets the Wolf' on purple mash. Can you remember where a question mark should go?

Have a go at writing 3 questions to ask someone at home.

Did you remember to use a capital letter?
Did you leave a space between words?
Did it start with who, what, when, why, where or how?
Did you remember to use a question mark?

I would love it if you could find question marks in books and magazines and newspapers that you have at home! (Did you see any on this sheet?)

Remember to stay active! Get out in the garden, try following along with Joe wicks every morning. I did it today and it was great fun! Just type Joe Wicks the body coach PE into google and you will find it.
