

Success Criteria for writing an argument

- I have a great opening sentence
- I have written in the present tense
- I have written in first person
- I have used my opinions, thoughts and feelings
- I have used Rhetorical Questions
- I have used strong language to argue my point
- I have used facts to back up my arguments
- I have used adjectives when describing the differences between the bus for 'coloured' people and the bus for white people
- I have included the view of both the black and white people in my argument
- I have used connectives to link my paragraphs and ideas
- I have included correct terminology e.g. segregation
- I have a strong closing sentence
- I have at least three examples for each point I make